GAME CONTROLS

With your Atari 2600 and 7800 controller, you control the penguin to: LEFT, RIGHT, UP and DOWN, with the "FIRE" button you start the game on the title screen, with the RESET key you start the game again on the game over and You Win screen.

The penguin moves downwards, with the command down the bird accelerates its pace, to be able to defeat its natural predator the seal, upwards you can avoid purple walls, when colliding with rocks the penguin takes no damage, only the seal.

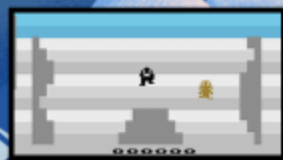

GAME OBJECTIVE

Oliver the penguin was walking with his flock across the Antarctic glaciers when the poor bird gets lost from his flock in a snowstorm, so he needs to get to a safe environment, as his path is full of seals.

Players need to guide the penguin cautiously back to its safe home, during the stage the player can catch fish to earn points.

LEVEL INFORMATION

Stage 1-3: In this phase, players will have few challenges, there are not many seals on the screens, and there are some paths that are a little tight, and have a balanced difficulty.

Stage 2-3: At this stage the difficulty can increase a little, as the walls and paths start to get tighter and tighter and there are more seals and few fish, which can make it very difficult.

Stage 3-3: In this last phase things are very difficult, as there are no seals but the walls can be a bit traceful, so be very careful when changing screens, as the curves of the ice wall can deceive you and make you crash into it.

After crossing some screens in the last stage they give you points, get to the end to be able to reach your safe area in your Igloo.
